California Tennis Player Carries Off Singles Honors in Invitation Tournament of Rockaway Hunting Club

KINSEY VICTOR IN

Defeats Hunter in Final Singles in Straight Sets at 6-2, 6-0, 6-1.

ANZACS LOSE DOUBLES

Lycett and Thomas Beaten by Beals Wright and Kumagae in Final, 6-4, 3-6, 6-2, 6-3.

Robert M. Kinsey of San Francisco, one of the new crop of California tennis players, won the singles in the invitation tennis tournament of the Bockaway Hunting Club at the club's courts in Cedarhurst yesterday by defeating Francis T. Hunter, former Cornell player, easily in the final round at 6—2. 6—6. 8—1. Beals C. Wright of Boston and Ichiya Kumagae, the Japanese expert, captured the doubles, defeating captured the doubles, defeating Australian pair, three sets to one in the final round at 6-4, 2-6, 6-2, 6-3.

The wind up of the tournament was witnessed by a much larger growd than has seen a Cedarhurst tournament in cars. Practically every one present and seen the two Australians beaten in the semi-final round of the singles and anted to see how Kinsey and Hunter ould shape up. It was realized that fills Kinsey had been playing remark-ble tennis since his arrival in the East og ave made many feel that he be a factor in the national cham-ip tournament which will be at Forest Hills a week after Hunter is not a world beater; not even a top notcher in the sterday, however, he could not make herday, however, he could not make hery hustle. The California young-r has improved steadily and gives mise of being a second Johnston.

Practically all of the interest attached itself to the doubles. The visiting Australian pair of Lycett and Thomas had gained thier place in the final rounds on Friday and the followers of the game had plenty of speculation on how they would fare against the American pair that would meet them. Heals Wright and Kumagne earned the right to take a crack at the Antipodeans by winning in the semi final round of the doubles carlier in the day, beating Frank Anderson and Robert Kinsey, two sets to one at 6-2, 1-5, 5-1.

When the time came for the playing stically all of the interest attached

When the time came for the playing the final round doubles match, practi-ily everyone at the courtside had come the conclusion that the visiting pair to the conclusion that the visiting pair would emerge victorious. Lycett and Thomas had arrived in this country with a reputation for doubles rather than singles play. The visitors were the more favored by the fact that Wright is a veteran and no long distance player. Many thought that even if the Americans did have a chance against the Australians, it would not be enhanced any by the fact that Wright had to play in a semi final round contest prior to the start of the big match.

The fact remains however, that Wright played right up to form and made an excellent teammate for Kumagae. The Americans had a tough time taking the opening set, and lost time taking the opening set, and lost the second. After that, however, the second. After that, however, Kumagae and Wright ran rings around Lycett and Thomas. Wright's steady lobbing and careful work at the net, d with Kumagae's wonderful soupled with Rumagas drives along the sidelines had the Ansac team help-less in the third and fourth sets. The Newark, Aug. 15.—Hammering both Rommell and Shea hard and taking ad-vantage of the ragged Newark defence Binghamton took both ends of the double beader from the Bears to-day. The scores were 9 to 5 and 9 to 1.

Newark hit Higgins hard in the early linnings of the opener, but the Bingoes kept pounding Rommell and put the game on ice with a raily that netted four runs in the fifth. There was no scoring in the last four frames.

Donovan held the Bears to three hits in the second game while Binghamton was making merry with Shea's slants. Shea received just as poor support in the second game as was accorded Rommell in the opener. Hinghamton got away to a three run lead in the second liming and steadily increased the advantage.

Donovan blanked Newark until the eighth, when the Bears bagged a run and saved themselves from the ignominy of FIRST GAME.
